DOKUMENTINDHOLD

Ernest Mancoba skriver til Sonja Ferlov Mancoba om hvordan han og Wonga klarer dagligdagen i Paris mens hun er i Danmark. Han støtter hende i de beslutninger hun skal træffe i Danmark omkring salg og opbevaring af enten genstande eller værker – det fremgår ikke af brevet, hvilke effekter det drejer sig om.

153, rue du Château
PARIS 14^e

My dear Inja,
Thanks for your letter that we had waited for impatiently - Wondering how the journey to Denmark took on you - how you could find a place to sit down on the train - how you could adjust yourself to all the strange milieu & people etc Both Wanya & I were very glad to hear M et Mme Maynard received you so well. Do greet them from us heart & we hope one day to see them also - I am more than grateful to them - Nobody in this world can exist without ~~the~~ mutual understanding & working together. Also greet M + Mme Kramp from both Winga & me & say say how we have kept beautiful souvenirs of their visit in Paris - spite of the unhappy incident at St Michel which I hope they have forgotten! - Winga has been very courageous - He has slept now & again a couple of hours but not as he really should - We went together to the football practice at the Stade Francois - I saw him playing with the others but it is not organized at all - He has to look for another club - Anyway he was glad for his football equipment - He needs badly to use his physique Now he wants to telephone to another club -

Last Saturday I went to the Marche Place Edgar quirot - I bought a many good things but I did not succeed with the meat - The man at the meat place with a very agreeable smile made me carry away du Boeuf Bourguignon which was not very fresh - But he explained very thoroughly how to prepare it. I took 3 hours to fix it up & to get it ready - In the end Wanya & I found that it smelt rather high & unrefreshing Wanya laughed at me & told me I reminded him of the repas we had chez Lore - I begin to sympathize ^{with} it to understand Lore! So Sunday was not quite "comme chez Maman" but we did not starve anyway!

Now I am going to fetch the poulet ready-cooked as you suggest - tu es irrand magnifique! je commence a comprendre.

Dis bonjour à Mr. Kravopet Salut Maman Bon Courage dis bonjour à Mme M. & à tous les autres.
Wanya

I have been to see Mr Paulre but I met Mrs Paulre, a wonderful person - I gave her the sum we decided & I asked her to greet & thank M.
Paulre - So do not think too much about that - we shall arrange when you come home -

We miss you at home my beautiful Suija we shall be glad when you come home but do not, nugh we manage very well in spite of all although Wanga thinks I do all "machine-like" without the tenderness of Maman -

Give our greetings to the Munkvad, & tell them that their company is always a source of inspiration when we meet them.

I am sure you are right that we should not rush to sell everything at once - It is wonderful if you could get them stored in a cave - Do what you think best my dear, Sige! I shall always be with you

Now Good luck & take care of your self

Now Ernst
